Your answer

Has your paper been submitted for publication elsewhere? If yes, please explain. *
Prior submission to pre-print journals, conferences, and student competitions do not count as prior publications, and thus are permitted.

Intentionally submitting the same manuscript to multiple journals simultaneously is grounds for retraction.

☒ No

File uploads

You must include 2-3 copies of your paper, in either Word document format or LaTeX format.

Your manuscript (in Standard citation format) should not exceed 20 pages (including figures, tables and appendix) with font size 12, single spacing.

Word Document Instructions (minimum 2 uploads)

1. The first file will be cited normally, with proper internal citations and a references section, using the citation format mentioned in the submission guidelines. Please remove all personal identifying information from this document, including author names, affiliations, acknowledgements, etc. Please name this file the same as the title of your manuscript, with no additional information.
2. The second file must use the online publication citation format listed in the submission guidelines. This format encloses the complete citation within double parentheses at every location in the text. The citation must be exactly the same for every instance of its use. The open parentheses must be preceded by a space. For multiple citations, each citation must be contained within its own set of double parentheses, with a superscript comma between them. See the submission guidelines for examples.

Failure to adhere to our formatting requirements will result in delays or even manuscript rejection.

LaTeX Instructions (minimum 3 uploads)

1. The first file should be the PDF of the LaTeX file, with proper internal citations and references, using the citation format mentioned in the submission guidelines. Please remove all personal identifying information from this document, including author names, affiliations, acknowledgements, etc. Please name this file the same as the title of your manuscript, with no additional information.
2. The second file is a modified version of the LaTeX file, saved in Word format. Remove all markdown in the document except for equations and inline equations (see below for examples of what to change). Citations must then be formatted using the online publication citation format listed in the submission guidelines. This format encloses the complete citation within double parentheses at every location in the text. The citation must be exactly the same for every instance of its use. The open parentheses must be preceded by a space. For multiple citations, each citation must be contained within its own set of double parentheses, with a superscript comma between them. See the submission guidelines for examples.

Change these:

`\section*{Introduction}` --> Introduction

`\begin{table}[]` --> Create the table in Word

$\begin{figure*}[h!] \rightarrow$  Figures do not need to be re-created. Attach all images used for the figures in the supplementary information.

Keep these:

$\alpha = \alpha_0 \cos(\omega t + \phi),$

3. The LaTeX file must be uploaded as the supplementary information.

Failure to adhere to our formatting requirements may result in delays or rejection.
